TRAILER SAFETY SAFETY CHAINS

Always connect the trailer's safety chains securely to the trailer hitch or tow vehicle by crossing them underneath the coupler. The safety chains should only be long enough to allow for tight turns. (Anything longer may weaken the safety feature of the chains if other connections fail.) Make sure the chains cannot wiggle or bounce free and do not let them drag on the ground.

TRAILER SAFETY DRIVING

If for some reason (a gust of wind, a downgrade, a pass by a larger vehicle, etc.) the trailer does begin to sway, the driver needs to assess the situation to determine the proper course of action.

DO	DON'T
- Gradually reduce speed - Steady the steering wheel - Sudden turns can cause more sway - Apply only the trailer brakes to help reduce trailer sway	- Don't slam on the brakes (Jackknifing could occur) - Don't try to steer out of a sway situation - Don't increase speed - Trailer sway increases at faster speeds - Don't tow a trailer that continues to sway

Consider reloading the trailer or possibly adding a sway control or a weight distribution system with sway control

TRAILER SAFETY HITCH BALLS

Always make sure the hitch ball weight rating is greater than the gross trailer weight.

The hole diameter in the ballmount must be less than 1/16" greater than the ball shank diameter.

When tightening a hitch ball to a ballmount, always use the lock washer and make sure a portion of the ball shank extends past the bottom of the nut.

Information Needed to get the Correct Ball

- Gross trailer weight (GTW)
- Hole diameter on the ballmount
- Ballmount platform thickness
- Trailer coupler size

Air Cargo Professional Development
An educational program by TIACA & IATA

EXPAND YOUR HORIZON

Receive training from seasoned air cargo industry professionals.

HOSTED BY
Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport

AUG 29th - SEPT 1st ALASKA
Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport, South Terminal

Air Cargo Professional Development Workshop

The principle objective of this course is to provide a broad overview of the air cargo industry and to create awareness of the underlying marketing, financial, operational, and competitive factors which influence management decision-making.

Participants will:

- Learn first-hand how market forces affect supply chain, revenue, and financial management.
- Work in teams on simulated, case studies to facilitate application of the concepts covered in real-world scenarios in order to improve decision-making.

Who should attend?

- Junior to senior managers in the air cargo chain (airlines, IATA/IATA, ground handlers, airports, logistics service providers, CMA, and anyone interested in learning more about the industry).
